Fact v Opinion

Posted on July 28, 2014 by Ms Bee

In literacy this term, we are studying the book Fox by Margaret Wild.

I’d like you to reply to this statement & following question:

An example of a fact is when Dog says “I am blind in one eye”. Dog can’t see as well as other dogs.

Then Dog states “life is still good”. This is his opinion.

What might this mean?

Stage 3 students, including year 4 from our class, have started contributing to our school blog. Check it out here: bhps.edublogs.org

Dear Families,

What a sporty week this has been. We started with our Boys and Girls Touch Football teams heading off to a Gala Day in Murwillumbah. Even though neither team made the finals the children all came home full of positive stories about the games they did win, great moves made in games they lost and they talked about all the new skills they learned. It is great to see that sportsmanship and participation are not just ideals we talk about but the students are carrying them into their everyday lives. Tuesday saw 12 students head off to FNC softball trials. It was already an achievement to have so many students from one school selected. The standard of the day was very high and an eye opener for many of our students. Blake and Eilli both made the possible/probables game and Eilli has been named a shadow player for the North Coast team. We will finish the week on Friday with almost 60 students heading off to Brunswick Valley District Athletics. Don’t forget all students going need to be at school by 8:00.

The K-2 sports program this term has been all about learning games suitable for the playground at lunchtime. Games like skipping, handball, ball games and hopscotch are taught in the sports program so that children have the skills to join in games. I was watching some kindergarten students play handball at lunch the other day and they are getting very good.

Another exciting event this week was the Writers Festival. Mrs Foster took 30 students to listen to famous writers Andy Griffiths and Sally Rippin. We are very lucky in this area to have access to events of this calibre in a rural location. The students who went were highly engaged and got lots of tips about writing.

The Primary students have all just completed Visual Arts program on digital art with MS Bee. They learned skills in Photoshop and all produced a portrait which have been entered in the prestige Les Peterkin Portrait Competition. As part of the competition outstanding works are selected to be displayed in the Tweed Regional Art Gallery. We have also hung a number of the portraits in our hall and on our website if you would like to have a look.

How to S-t-r-e-t-c-h the Food Dollar AND Eat Healthy

Vegetables: Fresh, in season are usually the best buy, however, frozen vegetables can be more economical at certain times of year and are always convenient with little waste, it’s good to keep some in the freezer.

For maximum nutrition; when preparing fresh vegies: minimise the chopping and cutting, clean skins rather than peeling, don’t soak your vegies and try not to overcook.

Meat, chicken, fish: When you’re buying, compare cost per serving rather than per kilogram as sometimes a moderately priced protein with little or no waste may be more economical than a very cheap one with more gristle, bone or fat. Cheaper cuts are just as nutritious but may need different preparation methods for maximum deliciousness! Using legumes such as lentils, peas and beans (cans are quick) will extend most stews and casseroles; maintain protein content and increasing fibre.

Milk: Powdered (dried) milk contains all the nutrients of fresh milk and it’s very convenient. If you make it up the night before it’s very like fresh in the morning. It’s also very good for using in cooking.
